

Orleans House Gallery Study and research facilities 2007

Accessing the Collection

Works not currently on display can be accessed by contacting the curator either in writing or by telephone outlining the works / artists / areas of interest you wish to access. The gallery actively promotes access to the collection and all members of the community are welcome to view works, as well as researchers.

Temporary Exhibitions

In order to increase access to exhibits on display, whether historical or contemporary, we display contextual information about the works on displays. This can include reference publications, handouts and artists statements. These can be referred to during normal gallery opening hours.

Young people can engage with and learn about the exhibits on display via our free exhibition activities.

Website/Publications

The highlights of the Borough Art Collection catalogue is available to refer to and download free of charge on our website. Please visit www.richmond.gov.uk. The website also includes text from previous exhibitions for research. In addition, these can be emailed in full upon request.

The gallery also has a number of publications available for sale in the gallery shop (these are also listed on our website at www.richmond.gov.uk). These publications cover local history, the collection and previous exhibitions.

Other Queries

We endeavour to answer any queries you have regarding the collection or temporary exhibitions. If we cannot answer these in full we will refer you to any relevant experts / societies other museums and galleries.

The curator can also offer advice about the conservation / storage and display of your own collections, but advise that if you require valuations to get in touch with one of the larger London auction houses.

For further information, please contact the curator on 020 8831 6490.
