

Annual Tree Planting List

2024 – 2025 Season

Thank you for taking a keen interest in the trees that Richmond Council is planting across the Borough between now and the 31st of March next year. The below tree planting list has been curated to ensure that we fulfil our commitment to replace every tree that is removed in any given year and increase the overall number of trees across the Borough. This commitment is driven primarily by the urgent need to increase the canopy cover across the Borough, which is crucial in helping us adapt to a changing climate.

There are a few important things to note about this planting list:

1. It is not final; there are currently 852 trees on this list, largely made up of replacements, but it will be updated further as the planting season progresses.
2. We will aim to plant all trees between now and the end of March this year, but this may not be possible due to resource constraints. We can and often do continue planting trees into April and May, if the conditions are favourable and allow for this.
3. We are not able to cater to specific species requests. Species selection is complex and is not just driven by what species was there previously or what you would like to be there instead. It is informed by site and environmental conditions; we seek to introduce species and trees of provenance that are tolerant to current and future environmental conditions and seek to increase the resilience of the overall tree population by prioritising species diversity. Where appropriate, the planting of native trees will be prioritised.
4. In preparation for planting new trees we have to create new tree pits. The creation of new tree pits often necessitates the removal of tree stumps and repairing the pavement. This can give the impression that we are ‘paving over’ the former tree pit, signalling our intention not to replace the tree after all. This is not the case; we are aware of these former planting sites and our tree contractors are scheduled to dig new tree pits in these locations before the end of the planting season.

And a final note on looking after these trees after they have been planted...

Our specialist arborist contractor carries out a programme of watering, which begins in April and continues throughout the growing season. We have a baseline watering frequency of ten visits per year. However, this is dependent upon weather conditions, so during hot and dry spells we operate increased watering regimes. We will monitor the condition of the tree to ensure that it is receiving adequate aftercare.

Additionally, many residents kindly keep an eye on our newly planted trees after they are planted. If you are keen to help these trees survive and thrive, especially though the unprecedented high temperatures we are and will likely continue to experience throughout the summer months, we very much welcome your efforts too. Information on how to water our street trees can be found on our Tree Planting and Watering web page.

Despite these efforts, not all newly planted trees will survive. Richmond Council has a high planting establishment success rate and failure of trees is uncommon. However, despite our best efforts to keep young trees alive through our regime of watering, occasionally they do not make it. There are many factors that can influence this, beyond regular watering, including the soil type, environmental shocks, location and quality of the individual tree stock. Rest assured, any trees that do fail during the three-year period following planting are replaced under contract guarantee, at no additional cost to the taxpayer.
